It takes an exceptional person to perform on the football field. North Carolina has produced some great football talent. This talent includes the greatest passer of all times, Sonny Jurgensen.

South Point High Athletics.....

And the beat goes on. The pride and the passion of winning in South Point athletics continues unabated. Just as the Catawba flows nearby, Red Raider and Raiderette sports teams continue to flow to the title room in the Southwest 3-A Conference and the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association.

During the past three years, Raider and Raiderette teams have captured five WNCCHSAA sports titles and have been involved in five other Association playoffs.

Last year's football team, under Jim Biggerstaff's able guidance for the fifth straight year, finished unbeaten and once-tied, finishing 11-0-1.

The Raiders flashed to 10 straight regular season wins, downed Crest for the SWC title, then tied Watauga 7-7 before losing out in a sudden death playoff.

South Point football has been the moving force in the SWC. Biggerstaff's first year, 1969, saw the team go 5-5. Since then, they have reeled off respective records of 9-1, 12-0-1, 8-2-1 and 11-0-1.

The Raiders, though stout on defense annually, put points on the board. Proof of that fact is the fact they have only been shut out twice during Biggerstaff's regime, which has meant 45 victories, just eight losses and three ties. It doesn't take a mathematician to figure out that's a winning percentage of .849.

Coach Biggerstaff, a Western Carolina grad who spent 10 years as an assistant coach under Bill Eustler at Rockingham before coming back to Belmont where he was a football and baseball star, is married to the former Joyce Wilson of Belmont and they have two children, Jamie and Jeff.

Biggerstaff claims he has the best assistants in North Carolina and this past summer's West head coach on the winning West against the East in Greensboro, does have three able and willing workers in Earl Lingafeldt, Phil Tate and Robert Keaton.

Lingafeldt's girls basketball team at South Point has won an unbelievable 79 of its past 89 games. That's a percentage of .888.
